

MARTIAL LAW IN GARY INDIANA WOOD IN COMMAND

Indication of Trouble in Chicago District Inspires Call for Fed- eral and State Troops

Figures Issued by National Headquarters Place
Number of Strikers
at 367,500

Gary, Ind., Oct. 7.—At 10 o'clock last night Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood in command of federal troops here, issued an order placing the town of Gary under martial law.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Martial law was declared in Indiana Harbor and East Chicago, Ind., although no violence had occurred since Saturday and marked today's developments in the steel strike situation in the Chicago district.

State Authority
Acting under authority conferred upon him by Governor Goodrich of Indiana, Adjutant General Smith, in command of 12 companies of Indiana state troops on duty in the Indiana strike zone, last night declared martial law in a territory embracing the towns of Indiana Harbor and East Chicago and extending for five miles in either direction from each of them.

The step was taken, General Smith said, following "indications of trouble" and after consultation with the mayors of the two towns.

A detachment of approximately 1,000 federal troops from Fort Sheridan, Ill., under the personal command of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commander of the central department of the army, took over control of the situation at Gary tonight, following an appeal for aid to General Wood from Governor Goodrich. Upon arrival of the federal troops the state units, which have been distributed over the Indiana strike district, were withdrawn from Gary and concentrated in Indiana Harbor and East Chicago.

No Disorder Reported
State troops had been sent to the districts after rioting Saturday night at Gary and Indiana Harbor. There was no disorder in either of the strike centers today.

Steel plants throughout the district continued to operate with varying forces of men at work. As on previous days, plant officials claimed that many additional men had reported for work, but strike leaders asserted that only a few unskilled workers had gone back.

Federal troops sent to Gary last night are overseas veterans of the Fourth division.

Ranks Hold Solid

Pittsburgh, Oct. 7.—A break in the ranks of the steel strikers hoped for by some of the companies did not come today when the third week of the struggle opened, but reports came in from different sections of the starting up of several smaller plants.

These were at Donora, Pa., where the rod, blooming and zinc mills of the American Steel & Wire company were placed in operation after being idle since the strike began, and at Monessen, Pa., where the Pittsburgh Steel company, the Pittsburgh Steel Products company, the Page Steel & Wire company and the Monessen Foundry company, also put to work men who applied for their old jobs.

The Wierton Iron & Steel company also started up part of its plant at Wierton, W. V., while a few departments in mills here were claimed to be in operation on a small scale.

There were no reports today of any attempt on the part of the Carnegie Steel company to start up idle plants.

Summary of Strike

Clearing House for Labor Disputes

Will be Recommended by the Senate Committee Investigating the Steel Strike

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Oct. 7.—A law creating a federal clearing house for labor disputes probably will be recommended by the senate labor committee investigating the steel strike according to members of the committee including Chairman Kenyon.

"Undoubtedly some form of legislation to prevent repetition of the steel strike will result," Walsh said today. Government machinery ought to be divided to act as a clearing house for industrial disputes. This should take the form of a body to which labor and employers could go with their industrial grievances.

President Better Desires to Work

Nothing Will be Placed Before Him,
However, as it is Feared He Will Over Do

Washington, Oct. 7.—(By United Press)—President Wilson was better today following a good night's rest, it was stated at the White House. He is still restless it was said and desires to begin work. Nothing is to be brought to his attention however because it is feared if one matter is set before him it will not be possible to keep him from attending to others.

The President himself does not wish to leave Washington feeling that there is no necessity for it. A strong hope was expressed that the President is permanently on the upgrade when the improvement recorded in the last two days is still good. Physicians regard favorable the fact that he is impatient to return to work.

Washington, Oct. 7.—"The President's improvement is continued," said a statement issued at 11:30 by the President's physicians.

The bulletin was signed by his three physicians and was issued after the consultation.

The physicians, Grayson, Ruffin and Stitt, it was learned have no intention of giving their permission for the President to take part in the industrial conference or to interest himself actively in any other public affairs. The rest cure which constitutes ninety-eight percent of the treatment will be continued. Dr. Grayson and the other physicians feel greatly encouraged and will take no risks that might cause a relapse.

N. D. State Bank Deeply Involved

State Bank Had Large Sums on Deposit with Fargo Bank and Held Its Notes

(By United Press)

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 7.—Attorneys for the State Bank of North Dakota were expected today to file with the supreme court sensational charges in connection with the closing of the Scandinavian-American Bank of Fargo. The state bank it is understood had large sums on deposit with the Fargo bank. The state auditor attempted to continue an investigation of the state bank on information that it held $325,000 of rediscounted papers from the Fargo bank. Officials today refused to permit the investigation to continue, declaring that the auditor's examiners had no authority to make the probe. State Auditor Cozletsky refused to discuss the investigation, but said a report of the bank examination would be available tomorrow and declared the public would be informed of its contents.

Wm. Lemke, attorney for the state bank was understood to be preparing a case for the supreme court, requesting that body to oust the receiver appointed by the bank at Fargo on the ground that the receiver named by the state bank board is unfair. Lemke was expected to sign the charges today or tomorrow.

"Cositzky has no authority to examine the bank of North Dakota," Governor Frazier said in a signed statement today. "The closing of the Scandinavian-American bank at Fargo was made without authority." He said the state bank examiner is the only officer entrusted with that power.

Says Anarchists, Bol- sheviks, Pro-Ger- mans Oppose Treaty

(By United Press)

Washington, Oct. 7.—Charges that anarchists, bolsheviks and pro-Germans are leading the organizations opposed to the peace treaty and the league of nations were made during a debate today by Senator Hitchcock. Senator Poindestexter apparently aroused Hitchcock by declaring that league supporters are manufacturing propaganda. No organization today can be nationwide, because no organization could be made without money. Hitchcock retorted, "If the senate wants to see America organized against the league of nations let him look at pro-Germans, socialists, anarchists and bolsheviks. If one will fight the league, they are the allies of opponents of the league of nations."

Shipbuilders Strike Long Drawn Contest

(By United Press)

San Francisco, Oct. 7.—A strike of fifty thousand ship builders and metal trades men had settled down today to an apparently long struggle when both strikers refused to return to work unless their demand of eight per cent increase is given. The increase is refused because the employers want to stand by the government in an effort to restore normal conditions.

Germany to be Given Ultimatum

(By United Press)

Paris, Oct. 7.—The supreme council of the peace conference today instructed Marshal Foch to draw up an ultimatum for presentation to Germany demanding the evacuation of German troops in the Baltic Province. The German reply to the allies demand that Marshall Von der Goltz's troops be withdrawn did not satisfy the supreme council.

Center of Attraction.

Angelia was, of all my acquaintances, the most vain. Happiness for her seemed an impossibility unless she was the center of attention. So when we learned of her coming marriage we knew that in style and display the event would surpass anything that had ever taken place in our town, and we were not wrong in our expectations. Under a shower of roses the happy couple had been pronounced man and wife and the organ pealed forth a flood of music. At this point we were surprised to see the bridegroom shaking hands with those nearest him. He didn't stop there, either, but, leaving his blushing bride to face the audience, alone, he passed up and down the aisles of the church greeting all the guests!—Chicago Tribune.

J. J. Cotter, Lane Sec- retary, and Lathrop Brown Were Elected Secretaries

RALPH COUCH,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 7.—Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the Interior was elected permanent chairman of the round table conference at the first business of the second session which opened this morning.

In seconding Lane's nomination, Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, said he wished to make clear that the assent of the labor group of delegates in Lane's election was not a reflection on Secretary of Labor Wilson, temporary chairman of the conference.

Secretary of Labor Wilson, who opened the session of the conference, and directed the preparation of the program, expressed his desire not to serve as chairman.

Lane is credited with having made suggestions to President Wilson which led him to call the conference. The second business of the session was to be the consideration of the report of the rules committee named late yesterday, and whose nine members worked far into the night preparing the program to guide the conference.

J. J. Cotter, Lane's secretary, and Lathrop Brown, were chosen joint secretaries of the conference. There were many vacant chairs when the conference opened.

Word from the White House this morning is favorable that it may be possible for President Wilson to appear before the conference before it closes. Secretary Lane told the conference in accepting the chairmanship.

Fight on How to Run Conference

Washington, Oct. 7.—A fight on the method of procedure of running the sessions of the industrial conference has developed. Strong opposition developed to the Rules Committee's proposed method. A recess was ordered to give each group represented, employers, workers and public a chance to discuss the committee's report outside of the conference.

The committee proposed that the conference be organized on a group basis, instead of an individual basis, each of the three major groups having a chairman and two secretaries, each group deciding by majority vote how to cast its ballot on any proposition then on the floor each of the three groups would cast one vote and a unanimous vote of all three groups would be necessary to pass any proposition.

Opponents of these schemes declared it was President Wilson's idea in summoning the conference to have a "round table" discussion of each proposition to clear the atmosphere and eradicate any misunderstanding, and his plan was to have an individual vote and not in groups.

The Rules Committee's propositions were to be disposed of this afternoon.

BOARD REPORTS ON HIGH PRICES; NAMES REMEDY

Unity That Won the War Suggested as Prime Factor in Bettering Conditions

Washington, Oct. 6—After an investigation of the high cost of living problem, the council of national defense finds:

That the nation's productive powers have not been fully utilized since the armistice.

That too few goods, notably the necessities of life, have been produced, and that even some of these goods have been withheld from the market and therefor from the people.

Cause of H. C. of L.
That the high cost of living is due in part to unavoidable war waste and increase of money and credit.

That there has been and is, considerable profiteering, intentional and unintentional.

The council believes that the remedies for the situation are:

To produce more goods, and to produce them in proportion to the needs of the people.

To stamp out profiteering and stop hoarding.

To enforce, vigorously, present law and promptly to enact such further law as are necessary to prevent profiteering and needless hoarding.

To bring about better co-operation and methods of distributing and the marketing of goods.

Full Information

To keep both producer and consumer fully informed as to what goods are needed and as to what supplies are available, so that production may anticipate the country's demands.

"Better standards of living are impossible without producing more goods", said the council's announcement.

"At the war's end we and our allies had desperate need of the essentials of life. We have had to share our resources with them, but this drain will gradually lessen.

"The process of production requires time. If production is rapidly increasing, vastly improved conditions will prevail in America when the results of present and future labor begin to appear.

Teamwork Imperative
"Teamwork is imperative. The manufacturer, the farmer, the distributor must each accordingly assume his part of the burden and enter upon his task.

"On American business rests a grave responsibility for efficient cooperation in bringing about full and proportionate production. On American labor rests an equally grave responsibility to attain maximum unit production and maintain uninterrupted distribution of goods if labor itself is not to suffer from further rises in the cost of living.

"The entire nation—producer, distributor and consumer alike—should return to the unity that won the war.

It Surprised Her.

One of the domestic pets in a certain English country house was a tortoise. As his time for hibernating drew nigh, he selected a quiet corner in the dimly-lighted coal-cellar, and composed himself to sleep. A new cook was appointed soon afterwards.
She knew not tortoises. In a few months, with the lapse of time, the tortoise woke up and sallied forth.
Screams soon broke the kitchen's calm.
Entering that department the lady of the house found the cook gazing in awe-struck wonder, and exclaiming, as with unsteady hands she pointed to the tortoise: "My conscience! Look at the stone that I've broken the coal with all winter!"

WOMAN'S REALM

LYCEUM COURSE

OPENS OCT. 8

Minneapolis Operatic Company to Appear at Gardner Auditorium This Wednesday Evening

SPLENDID ARTISTS APPEAR

Repertoire Contains Selections from Grand and Light Opera, Folk Songs, Duets, Etc.

Music lovers are assured a rare treat Wednesday evening at Gardner hall in the appearance of the Minneapolis Operatic company, which opens the Lyceum Lecture Course of the University Extension Division which has been booked for this city by Rev. E. G. Carlson. The sale of season tickets has been very satisfactory and the prospects for a large and appreciative audience for this initial number seems excellent.

Miss Beatrice L. Thurston is the vocal director and the dramatic features are supervised by C. C. Stevens. Their purpose has been to present art music in a more attractive manner. Many innovations which stamp their presentations with marked originality, have won success and wide popularity.

Attractive stage setting and colorful costumes and musical renditions afford pleasure to the eye as well as to the ear. The repertoire contains selections from grand and light opera, folk songs, duets, solos and instrumental numbers. The course has been given the approval of the Brainerd Musical club and members of that organization are taking a keen interest in the opening number tomorrow evening.

Rev. Carlson has taken a great responsibility in affording Brainerd people an opportunity to hear the splendid artists included in the program and the public should appreciate this and demonstrate their approval in turning out tomorrow evening, as they will not only promote a worthy activity but will enjoy an evening of rare entertainment.

The season tickets and single tickets are on sale at local drug stores, banks and other places previously designated. The entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock and patrons are urged to secure their tickets early.

16th Birthday

A pleasant birthday party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hagberg, Monday evening, Oct. 6, in honor of Miss Elsie Hagberg's sixteenth birthday. Many pretty gifts were received and a dainty luncheon was served. Those who were present are: Christine Olson, Bernice Reid, Elizabeth Rosko, Gunhild Nelson, Mabel Johnson, Margaret Rosko, Lillian Foster, Marie Setula.

Normal Party

The Normal girls and their teacher Miss Reid, had a party at the home of Margaret Kuehmel Saturday evening.

Part of the girls tried to represent the male sex by dressing up in their brother's suits and in some cases this was very amusing.

The evening was spent in dancing and playing games, and later delicious refreshments were served.

Episcopal Guild

The Ladies Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church will entertain for Mrs. Bernard Campbell of Gainesville, Fla., wife of a former rector, at the home of Mrs. J. R. Smith, North Broadway, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Members of St. Mary's Guild and the Ladies Guild are invited.

Wonderful!

"A sun dial sets off one's place?" remarked Mrs. Cawler, "but of course it is useless at night." "The one we are getting won't be," replied Mrs. Newrich. "We intend to have it surrounded by electric lights."—Boston Transcript.

Freshmen Party

The Freshmen class of the Brainerd high school gave a picnic, Friday, October 3, on the river flats. The members of the class met at 4 o'clock and started a few minutes later. Supper was served at 6:30 o'clock. It is needless to say that everyone had plenty to eat. Shortly after supper "Run Sheep Run" was played by the energetic members. Then all gathered around the fire and sang, and listened to a story by Miss Scott. Three cheers for the Freshmen. All went home happy at 8:30 o'clock.

NEWEST HAT LINE

Really Deviates Little From the Present Style.

Designers Have Not Intended That the "Chapeau" Is to Be Worn Further Back on the Head—Brims Roll Backward.

If you have read or heard about the new off-the-face style of hats that have been launched in Paris you may be under the impression that as a result of this vogue we are going to wear our hats farther back on our heads. Somehow, the hat that is tilted backward still looks a little outlandish, and it may seem to you as if it would be very hard to give up the style of wearing your hats well over your forehead.

However, these new hats are not actually worn back off the forehead. The idea is that the brims roll backward so that there is less shading of the face, but the band of the hat takes the same position now that it has for many seasons, only that the hat is placed perfectly straight in order to give the right effect to the falling back of the brim. There is no longer any inclination of fashion to tilt the hat on one side. The new hats simply were not made for that sort of thing.

When all is said and done, it is really the hat that determines the way we do our hair, and as long as our hats rest on our ears the same as usual most of us will go on wearing our hair much the same as usual. A pompadour effect in front would be quite out of the question so long as the brims of hats rest across our foreheads. It is only when hats merely rest on our heads in front that we can attempt a much puffed or elaborate front arrangement.

Time may come, and that not far off, when this tendency to pull our hats down on our foreheads gives way to something else. It may be that the poke hat that had only a small vogue last season will return in a true poke form—that is, with a front brim that really flares and a very short back—that actually shows the hair in back—a hat that really is more of a bonnet than a hat.

But if this type of hat is coming eventually, then the present off-the-face shapes are merely a digression because they are placed well on the head. The only thing that is the brim rolls back. And this roll-back brim is something that will sell many yards of veiling, for this type of hat is just the sort of thing that you need as basis for the neat arrangement of a veil. American women have the reputation of arranging their veils better than any other women in the world, but the American woman will not attempt to arrange a veil unless she has something to arrange it on.

BELGIAN ROYALTY FIRST TO ARRIVE

LATER WASHINGTON WILL HAVE THE PRINCE OF WALES AND OTHER NOTABLES.

LLOYD GEORGE MAY COME

So Also President Poincare of France and Heads of Several South American Republics—King Albert's Former Visit Recalled.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—The arrival in the United States of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium reminds the people of Washington that a number of foreign visitors are booked for this fall and winter. Cardinal Mercier of Belgium, who, like King Albert and Queen Elizabeth, took his place resolutely with the people of Belgium in their opposition to the Germans, will be received at the White House when the king and queen are guests there. A little later the prince of Wales, who is now in Canada, will come to town and, though he will not be a guest at the White House, he will be cordially received there.

So far, these are the only persons of great distinction abroad who are now in this country or are known to be coming, but President Wilson has on his desk letters from several European men of note who say they hope to visit the United States during the coming winter. Among these are Lloyd George, the British premier, and President Poincare of France. Three or four South American presidents have also indicated that they may possibly turn their faces this way before our spring. So, on the whole, it appears that the coming fall and winter will bring to the national capital more foreign men and women of note than ever before visited the United States in one season.

Labor League to Meet.

This city is also to be the meeting place of several international organizations, each one the outgrowth of the world's war. Within a few days delegates to the International Labor league will begin arriving. This league, which is recognized in the treaty of peace, embraces the entire world. The men who have become interested in it predict great things for it eventually. Its chief purpose is to lay down principles for the guidance of organized labor throughout the world. As at present organized the league is in conservative hands.

The first meeting of the League of Nations is also scheduled for this city a little later in the fall. The date of this meeting cannot, of course, be definitely fixed until the United States, as well as the other nations interested, shall have ratified the treaty of peace with the league covenant included in it. The preliminary arrangements for the first meeting of the league are being made on the assumption that in time the league will become a reality. October had been agreed on as the month in which this first league meeting would be held, but it is certain it will have to go over until a month later if not until the first of next year.

The visit of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth will, one may feel certain, appeal more directly to the people of the United States than any of the unusual events that are to follow. The king and queen won the hearts of the American people the day they said Belgium should never surrender to the Germans. During the years that have intervened since the Germans overran Belgium thousands of Americans have come in touch with King Albert and Queen Elizabeth and one and all speak in the highest terms of them. The Americans were most impressed, so they say, with the simplicity of the king and queen. In the dark days of Belgium the king and the queen, as well as Cardinal Mercier, accepted all the hardships that befell them without complaint. Their whole solicitude, according to the returning Americans, was for the people of their country.

King Albert's Former Visit.

It is not the first visit of King Albert to the United States. In 1898, before he became king, he came to this country to study our manufactures and particularly the development that was being made at that particular time in electrical apparatus. He arrived in New York on March 8, 1898, and was met by Gen. Wesley Merritt, representing the United States government, and by the Belgian minister. He was welcomed as a prospective king, but the reception he got was tame in comparison with that which was accorded him in New York the other day when he stepped from the steamer George Washington. The prospective king came to Washington on that trip, but his visit attracted no unusual attention.

King Albert is the second reigning monarch to visit the United States. In 1876 Dom Pedro, emperor of Brazil, came to attend the centennial exposition in Philadelphia. The emperor came on to Washington and was received by President Grant. He insisted that he came simply as the first gentleman of Brazil and wished to accept no official honors, but in spite of his expressed wish President Grant accorded him the honor due his official station.

The prince of Wales will follow close on the heels of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth. Many functions in his honor are already being arranged.

A Double Wedding

By RALPH HAMILTON

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

It was not the fault of Milly, for there was a sharp curve at the street corner and she could not very well discern that a noiseless automobile was rounding the circle. All her attention was bestowed upon herself, and with a reason. She had just arrived on the train from her village home to visit a cousin in the city. She was on the way to her new. There had been a heavy rain earlier in the day and the roadway was wet and slippery and its pot holes were full of muddy water and slime.

In her neat-fitting new dress, dazzling white shoes and stockings and her dainty hat, Milly was about as fair a sight to view as one would meet in a day's journey. She suggested just what she was—a lovely country flower in budding bloom. Her sparkling eyes and joyous face told that every motion she made responded to a happy heart. A proud one, too, for this was the first real full outfit, all new, that Milly had ever possessed. It represented her berry money of a whole season.

A little frown of dismay hovered above the charmingly-dimpled cheeks as Milly paused at the curb and surveyed the forbidding roadway. Then her eyes picked out a possible carefully selected tip-toe route which might land her across without soiling her spotless attire.

"Toot-toot!" With a quiver and a shiver, Milly drew back, but too late. Gracefully the warning automobile rounded the curve. Milly was out of all danger of a collision, but the front wheel of the machine landed in a deep rut.

"Splash!" In consternation Milly glanced down, first rubbing from her face the grimy water that had splattered up. Her slippers were dotted with specks and splashes of mud. One stocking had been deluged. The front of her dress was streaked and spangled. It was like a reeking brush full of black paint thrown at a fair canvas and blotting out all its beauty in a flash. Milly tottered across the sidewalk, sank to a doorstep and the tears fell like rain.

Where now the joy of meeting and surprising her cousin, promenading along a real city street?

The chauffeur of the stylish automobile had come to a halt at a sharp word from a young man in the rear seat. Beside him was a lady older than himself, but resembling him and evidently his sister. The former opened the auto door and started toward the forlorn little victim of the mishap. At once the lady followed him.

"My dear child," spoke Helena Bland, placing a compassionate hand on the shoulder of Milly, "this is indeed dreadful! Such a pretty dress! But we will soon remedy the damage we have wrought. Help her to the auto, Dayton, get us home at once." "Oh, it was not your fault, miss! You see, I am not used to the city," uttered Milly, brokenly and ingenuously. So dismal was her plight in her own estimation, however, that she was all absorbed in it and was in the automobile before she realized it, and Miss Bland was wiping the spots from her pretty face with her handkerchief, while her brother wondered that no such artless wild rose face had come into his life before.

Milly was charmed with the stately but warm-hearted Helena Bland, who took her to her room at her sumptuous home and called in the services of maid and laundress to make Milly almost presentable again.

"You will do very well dear, until morning," Miss Bland assured her. "Then I shall call for you and we will duplicate your damaged outfit from top to toe."

"Oh, indeed, no, no," answered Milly impetuously. "Why, I can whitewash the slippers and unless you look close you can hardly notice the splashes on the dress. You have been too kind already," but Miss Bland not only took Milly to her cousin's home in the automobile, but called next morning and showed her an unsophisticated little heart with delight.

Milly was seated in Miss Bland's bonnet when for the first time she observed a framed photograph.

"Why, Miss Bland!" she exclaimed, "I know who that is?"

Miss Bland uttered a gasp and turned pale. "A fancied resemblance, dear, I think," she murmured in an unsteady tone.

"Oh, no—no!" insisted Milly. "I have seen him often. He is the manager of the coal mine down our way. He does not go around much, but he plays the organ at the church. Oh, it is Alden Renfrew, surely!"

The lady held to a chair for support. She questioned Milly closely. There was awakened in her soul hope, for two years previous a favored suitor, Alden Renfrew, had lost his fortune in a day, had felt himself no match for the peerless woman he loved, and had gone away to lose himself in the great world outside.

Miss Elsie Wilson

"Things had gone on the blink in the old country and I had heard so much about the States that I wanted to try it," was the explanation made by Elsie Wilson, an English girl of twenty-two, to a charge that she was in this country illegally. She told the New Jersey authorities that after four attempts to leave England had failed, she had her hair cut off, donned the rig of a sailor, was accepted at Southampton without question, and that she worked as a coal passer.

A Blind Guide.

Many books have been filled with accounts of the achievements of the blind. Take for a specimen the story of James Wilson, the poor blind boy who became so familiar with the streets of Belfast that he often served as a guide to bewildered strangers. He became a traveling peddler, and was led through many perils in prosecuting his dangerous occupation. At one time a sudden call halted him on the very brink of an open well eighty feet deep. He employed persons to read to him, and his eager memory was so retentive that he became known as "the Walking Encyclopedia." Once in a company he was asked to repeat the names of as many ships of the British navy as he could. He gave names without hesitation till 620 were written down, when he was told to stop. This poor blind boy became a well-known writer.

TOWNS NOT FATED TO LIVE

Communities East and West, Founded in High Hopes, Are Now Practically Things Forgotten.

Western papers tell their readers that the town of Emerson, Okla., is shortly to be a thing forgotten, remarks the Hartford Courant. It was mapped out as a town site shortly after the territory was opened for settlement, and the promoters had dreams of a metropolis. In 1907 the plan was abandoned, and now the district court has been asked to vacate the land for town site purposes, when what might have been a town will become farm land.

The story of Emerson suggests what came near happening to a Connecticut town in the beginnings of the colony. Those interested in it showed rare sense in their choice of a site, and in their dreams planned not for a town but for a city. Hampden and Cromwell were to be among its citizens; the cream of England, so its promoters hoped, were to become its citizens. Fate ordered otherwise, and the early days of this dream town are remembered now largely through Lion Gardiner's account of his struggle to hold the site against the attacks of the Indians.

Other states, notably the mining commonwealths of the West can duplicate the story from Oklahoma, but few can equal the romance of the Connecticut settlement.

Village Proud of War Record.

The little Norfolk village of Old Buckingham is proud of its war record. Its total male population between the ages of eighteen and fifty in 1914 was 244. Of that number no fewer than 170 served with the forces and 39 have given their lives for their country.

In their honor a memorial cross has been erected on the village green, an exact reproduction of the "cross of sacrifice" designed by Sir Reginald Bloomfield, R. A., for all British military cemeteries abroad. The total height from the ground line to the top of the cross is 24 feet 6 inches. It is built of stone and the names of those men of the village who fell in the war are inscribed in gilt on the drum below the base of the cross.

The sacrifice of Old Buckingham is typical of every British village.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

"Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for 'Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound,' you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

SOME THINGS NOT ARBITRABLE

Arbitration is a good thing. It is a distinctively American principle and has been practiced by the United States more than by any other country. We cordially believe in it, for the settlement of disputes between individuals, between nations, between business organization—which latter includes employers and employees.

But not all things are arbitrable. In that we disagree with an eminent American statesman of super-amiable disposition, who has a hobby for committing nations to the unreserved arbitration of all issues which may arise.

We believe in arbitration by individuals. A man may properly submit to arbitration a dispute over a line fence, or over the non-fulfillment of an agreement. But he cannot submit to arbitration a question involving his wife's virtue.

We believe in arbitration by nations. A nation may well submit to arbitration a claim for material damages or the interpretation of a treaty. But it cannot submit to arbitration a question involving its own independent sovereignty and existence.

So, to come to the present issue, we believe in arbitration between employers and employees. A corporation may properly submit to arbitration a demand for higher wages or for shorter hours or for improved conditions of labor. It could not arbitrate a demand from persons in no way connected with it that it should require all its employees to join, even against their will, an organization prescribed by those outsiders, and should constitute itself a coercing and collecting agency to compel their continued submission to that body.

We may add that we think that in some conceivable case it might be permissible for the Senate of the United States to interest itself in the demands of strikers and labor agitators. We cannot conceive its being interested, save in one certain way, in the demands of those whose leader puts forward as his cardinal principles and as the ultimate aim and object of the strike, the confiscation of all capital and the abolition of all government by means of a forcible revolution in which might is to be right and all considerations of morality are to be disregarded.

Such things cannot be arbitrated.—Harveys Weekly.

THE ACID TEST

One of the funniest things concerned with the world's series is to read some so-called expert dopest's figures forecasting of a game flanked by the game itself.

The only man running true to predictions is Johnny Evers. He is rooting for Cincy. Mr. Gollop of the Dufuth News Tribune had it all figured out in advance that the White Sox would win. After each defeat he shaded down his prediction, whitening a little off here and something off there until now he's down to the last whittle.

The Brainerd Dispatch hoisted the "Cincy" flag at the start and has not had to haul down the colors. The Reds have a team which is winning out of pure cussedness, just to show the bunch of experts in judging baseball material that each man slated for the bushes still had a punch left in him. The winning of that world's series is giving every Red more real satisfaction than anything else ever happening in their respective careers.

They have upset the dope, the figures, the forecasts, the Hugh Fullerton card indexes which seek to catalog a man on past performances without allowing one bit of latitude for development of latent talent drawn out by such a master boss as Moran.

NORTHFIELD MEANS IT

Northfield, which stopped the Jesse James gang short, has now issued a warning that $300 will be paid for a dead crook.

Crooks are warned to be good in Northfield in a handbill issued by the Northfield community club vigilance committee. Thousands of the bills are being scattered throughout the state.

The bills announce a $300 bounty on burglars, preferably dead, to be paid by the Northfield National bank. A dead crook is only one kind desired, it reads:

"On three minutes notice," says the bill, "all roads leading from this city will be barricaded and guarded by armed men. Four fast automobiles are held ready for a chase at a minute's notice. If you want to pull off anything in Northfield try it."

WHAT IS INTOXICATING?

What percentage of alcohol is intoxicating is the question to soon engross the attention of the United States Supreme Court.

Lower courts in Maryland have held that 2.75 beer is not intoxicating under the war time prohibition act. The government will insist that the beer of one-half of 1 per cent alcohol or more should be declared intoxicating.

In Brainerd some people had an idea that each case charging intoxication would be a matter for the jury to determine by investigation of the exhibits.

DOLLARS—AND SENSE!
—Think It Over—

Dollars are not made out of India rubber and yet they can be stretched. And right now is the open season for stretching.

Have you stopped to consider that three or five years from now, or perhaps sooner, the dollar which now seems to have a hole in it as large as that of a doughnut may once more be the solid, powerful piece of money that it was before the mighty armies in Europe rocked the world?

There always has been a period of artificially high prices following each big war. In this country, it was several years before normal conditions were restored after the Civil War but conditions ultimately did adjust themselves and a few years after the Civil War there was a big difference as to the buying value of money.

With these facts in mind—to say nothing of the multiplicity of other arguments in its favor—is not the supreme period of saving at hand? If by making wise investments and curbing reckless spending, you can keep the present discounted dollar until the clouds have rolled away, it is readily seen that it will be a move in the right direction.

The government is doing its best to awaken the public to a realization of these facts and presents an opportunity along these lines by the sale of thrift stamps, war savings certificates and on October 6 it hopes for a big sale of the recently authorized $100 and $1,000 Treasury Certificates, nicknamed "Savings Bonds."

AMERICANS WILL BE THERE

Opportunities Offered in Abyssinia Are by No Means Likely to Be Long Overlooked.

After his visit to the United States one of the Abyssinian visitors admitted that he knew now why there were no Americans in Abyssinia. As he had seen him at home, the American, so the stranger from Abyssinia decided, is not given to slow and tedious traveling. He wants to get about quickly, and Abyssinia, with nothing faster than a pack mule, offers no inducements of rapid transportation. "That, it seems," said the Abyssinian, "has kept the American man out of our country. It is too bad. We need bridges like yours, we need streets like yours, and we need men like yours to direct the building of them." Commercially and industrially, however, the truth probably is that Abyssinia has not been "discovered," and when that happens the American man will come and build his own rapid transportation. The mere statement that the capital, Addis Ababa, is a city of some 40,000 inhabitants and no railway connection with the outside world is a temptation.—Christian Science Monitor.

Victory Arch of the Tongans.

The ancient Tongans must have had occasion to erect a "victory arch" at one time or another, for not far from these tombs of royalty is found an arch made of two gigantic stone uprights which support another gigantic stone for a cross member carefully mortised into place. The Tongans made certain that their victory arch would hold together for the safe passage of their Twenty-seventh division. Some authorities claim that this particular arch was not made by the Tongans at all, but by their predecessors in the islands. Perhaps so, but whoever the people were who set up this arch they possessed mechanical ability, for the uprights are sixteen feet high, twelve feet wide and five feet thick, and the stone across the top is only slightly smaller in thickness.

NEW PENSION BILL.
BEFORE THE HOUSE

REVISES AND EQUALIZES THE RATES PAID TO VETERANS OF THE CIVIL WAR.

FAVORED BY THE COMMITTEE

Widows of Pensioners and Nurses Also Are Provided For—Might Require $65,000,000 for First Year of Operation.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—A bill to revise and equalize rates of pensions paid to soldiers, sailors and marines of the Civil war and to widows, former widows, dependent parents and children of those soldiers, sailors and marines, and to women who served as nurses in that war, has been favorably reported by the committee on invalid pensions of the house of representatives. This committee bill is a substitute for a large number of general pension bills introduced since this congress met last May and which were referred to this committee. The new schedule of pensions proposed by the bill is as follows:

1. Any honorably discharged soldier who is now in receipt of, or entitled to receive under existing law, a pension of less than $50 a month, a pension at the rate of $50 a month.

2. Every person who served 90 days or more in the army, navy or marine corps and who was honorably discharged, or who served less than 90 days and was discharged for disability incurred in the service and in the line of duty, and who is now or hereafter may become, by reason of age and physical disabilities, helpless or blind, or so nearly helpless as to require the constant attendance of another person, $72 a month.

3. In case the soldier, sailor or marine lost one hand or one foot or suffered a disability in the line of duty equivalent thereto, $60 a month; for the loss of an arm at or above the elbow, or a leg at or above the knee, $65 a month; for the loss of an arm at the shoulder or a leg at the hip joint, $72 a month; for total disability resulting from any of the losses above mentioned, $90 a month.

For Widows and Nurses.

4. The widow of any person who served in the army, navy or marine corps for 90 days or more, or regardless of the length of service, was discharged for disability incurred in the service, $30 a month, provided the widow was married to the soldier, sailor or marine prior to June 27, 1916. This section applies to all former widows of persons who served for 90 days or more in the army, navy or marine corps during the Civil war where it can be shown that such widows remarried either once or more than once after the death of the soldier, sailor or marine, provided it is shown that the subsequent or successive marriage or marriages has or have been dissolved either by the death of the husband or husbands, or by divorce without fault on the part of the wife.

There is the further provision that any widow mentioned in this section shall also be paid $6 a month for each child of the officer or enlisted man under sixteen years of age, and in case of the death or remarriage of the widow having a child or children under these circumstances under the age of sixteen years, the pension shall be paid to the child or children until the age of sixteen years.

5. All army nurses of the Civil war and all dependent parents of any officer or enlisted man who served in the war whose names are now on the pension roll or who are now entitled to pension under any existing law, $30 a month.

Would Call for Large Sum.

According to the pension office the legislation would affect 571,806 persons who are now on the pension rolls, classified as follows: Veterans of Civil war who are alive, 271,391; widows of pensioners, 293,244; dependent parents of Union soldiers, 206; Civil war nurses, 129; minor children, 6,836. The house committee says it goes without saying that the bill, if enacted into law, will cost the government a large sum of money, but the committee asserts that in comparison with some other government expenses the amount seems almost negligible. The best estimate the committee has been able to obtain is that the new schedule would cost for the first year of its operation around $65,000,000; but this estimate, it is pointed out, is based on the number on the pension roll on the 30th of last June. That number is, of course, being reduced by deaths by several thousand every month.

In support of this legislation which, according to the committee view, will probably be the last relief congress will ever vote to the veterans of the Civil war and their dependents, the committee reminds the members of congress that the veterans and their widows are all old; that it is now more than fifty-four years since the close of the Civil war; that with rare exceptions the survivors of that war cannot longer earn a living by either manual or mental labor, that many of them are poor.

The final conclusion of the committee is that if the pensions were not more than adequate a few years ago, they are surely far from adequate now.

Tuberculosis Records

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—Eight per cent of the Minnesota young men barred from military service in the world war were rejected because they were victims of tuberculosis, according to a report of the draft examinations received today by the Minnesota Public Health association. This is considered a very high percentage, the records showing that of twenty major causes of rejection, tuberculosis was fourth from the highest.

The total number of Minnesotans examined was 18,862. Of these 16,008 were rejected either by local boards, after arriving at army camps, or after induction into service because of physical defects. And of the rejects, 1,350 were victims of the "great white plague."

Sully's Hill

Devils Lake, N. D., Oct. 7.—Five to ten thousand dollars federal appropriation could make Sully's Hill National park near here one of the famous beauty spots of the northwest, in the opinion of E. W. Nelson, chief of the biology survey bureau of the department of agriculture at Washington here yesterday. Sully's Hill, named from the famous Indian fighter, was until recently a scenic spot unknown except to the Indians and a few pioneer hill climbers. A few years ago it was "discovered" and through an appropriation of $5,000 secured by Senator Gronna partially developed and stocked with some buffaloes and elk. The view from the summit which extends as far as the eye can reach is one of wonderful beauty.

Nelson suggested a vista house at the highest point and automobile train to carry those disinclined to climb.

School of Agriculture

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 7.—The Northwest Minnesota School of Agriculture opened here today with a larger enrollment than in any previous year. The early crop season is enabling most students to enter at the opening this year. Practical courses in all branches of agriculture are available.

Flood Control

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—Preliminary work in compiling data on the flood control problem in the Minnesota, Red Lake and Roseau river basins is well under way, according to E. V. Millard, state commissioner of drainage. The state drainage department with the assistance of A. F. Meyer, formerly a federal consulting engineer in drainage problems is getting data together for a general survey of the state.

Actual field investigations are being made that will take probably a year to complete. The board expects to make detailed reports to the next legislature.

Survey Party Presents Evidence Regarding Waterhouse and Connelly

Nogales, Ariz., Oct. 6.—Lieutenants Waterhouse and Cecil H. Connelly, American aviators lost in Mexico, were apparently murdered after landing near Los Animas bay, according to members of the San Francisco geological survey party who arrived here yesterday with corroborative evidence of the statement of Joseph Allen Richards who claimed to have located the bodies of the American aviators.

J. Vandergraft and H. R. Crane of the geological survey party brought back taken from the skull of the two bodies found by their party near Los Animas bay. These were delivered to army dental surgeons for identification. They said one of the skulls was badly crushed and the body showed evidences of stab wounds on the arms.

The relaxed positions of one of the bodies indicated death had come while the men were asleep while the other indicated by tensed muscles that a fight had preceded the murder, the geologists said.

The war department has requested the navy department to send a boat to Los Animas bay, Mex., to bring back the bodies of Lieutenants Connelly and Waterhouse. It was announced unofficially by military officials.

Really Small Flats.

Verona was much impressed with her first night in a berth on a sleeper and in relating some of the wonder of her trip, remarked: "Why, Aunt Emma, the flats were so small I couldn't all five together. Minnie or I slept in the first flat and daddly the second flat."

BEAUTY SECRETS!

Where she gets her good looks, her healthy skin, her pink cheeks, is known to every one.

because it is apparent that it is not due to cosmetics, paint and powder. But the true womanly beauty comes from good health, and this good health is a woman's secret.

Health comes with good physical machinery and good spirits, an active digestion. A body free from pains and aches comes with a tonic known for over fifty years as the best "temperance" tonic and nerve for woman—namely, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It can be obtained in any drug store in liquid or tablet form, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Cleansing of the intestinal tract is important. Take castor oil or select a vegetable pill. Such a one is composed of May-apple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap, and made into tiny sugar-coated pellets, to be had at every drug store as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Raising Glasses.

"Well, here goes"—and every glass was swung upward and held for a fraction of a second before it "went." How started a custom, a mannerism now so general that no one drinking in company would think of omitting it even in these days of ginger ale and sarsaparilla? American sportsmanship demands that boxers shake hands before the bout. Autre temps autres mœurs. The time and temperament that sanctioned duels decreed that before the mortal combat the antagonists drink a glass of wine. To avoid the suspicion of attempting to poison each other's liquor both raised their glasses aloft and poured a little from each into the other. In these unromantic days poison has passed out of fashion, but the custom of raising glasses with its significance and implication of sincerity has remained.—Exchange.

ANTON MAHLUM NEW CITY CLERK

Elected to Succeed Lloyd D. Greeno, at Regular Meeting Held on Monday Evening

5 CANDIDATES IN THE FIELD

"Bluff Addition" Platted by A. A. White—New Dray Ordinance—Petition for More Wages

Anton Mahlum, for many years city clerk of Brainerd, was re-elected to the position at the regular council meeting Monday evening, succeeding Lloyd D. Greeno who recently resigned after five months' incumbency to take a position with the Northern Pacific railway company at South Tacoma, Wash.

On the informal ballot Mr. Mahlum received 4 votes, Severn Swanson of Bozeman, Mont., 3 votes; Charles S. Hazen 1, James Clark Hayes 2. On the formal ballot the vote stood Mahlum 6, Swanson 3, Hayes 1. H. R. Griebel had also filed an application for the position.

New Plat Filed

A plat of "Bluff Addition" has been planned by A. A. White and was referred to the city engineer, city attorney and street committee to report on at the next meeting of the council. It embraces 40 odd lots along the river front extending from Main street to a point below Maple. It was surveyed by Louis Knudsen.

New Dray Ordinance

Following a complaint made by W. E. Lewis and St. Hall, local draymen using motor trucks, that the present ordinance favored horse drawn vehicles at the expense of motor trucks, the city council ordered the city attorney, F. H. Fullerton, to draw up a revised ordinance which on Monday evening received its first reading, no opposition being recorded.

Carts, drays, wagons, etc., operated for hire drawn by two horses or other animals shall pay a $5 annual license. For one horse $3 shall be paid. Motor driven vehicles hauling merchandise, etc., shall pay $25. Motor driven vehicles transporting passengers shall pay $40.

City Clerk Hours

The council set the hours of the city clerk on an eight hour schedule, from 8 to 12, 1 to 5. The pay is to be $130, he to do his own stenographic work.

N. P. Ry. Lease

A lease between the city and the Northern Pacific railway company for right of way on ground to be occupied by a 12 inch water main extending to the water tower was examined, discussed and ordered signed by the proper officers.

Janitor Service

Janitor service in the city hall was discussed.

Street Opening

To the city engineer and street committee was referred the matter concerning block 60 in West Brainerd which had streets marked out on the plat, but which in reality had a road meandering over private property. The only solution appears to be to lay out streets as the plat calls for.

Ask Wage Increase

Men engaged in laying water mains have asked for an increase in pay of 5c an hour, making their wages mount from 45c to 50c an hour, eight hour day. The petition was referred to the water and light board for its recommendation in the matter.

Street Sprinkling

L. Bourassa told the council business men generally were supporting his plan for street sprinkling next year. He asked the council to pay him $150 for the season in 1920 for sprinkling street intersections. It was referred to the street committee to report at the next meeting.

ROLL OF HONOR

Wallace Olson went through a third operation on his wound received in action in the Argonne Forest in France and is recovering nicely. Something seemed to be keeping the wound open and this operation found torn cords and pus formation which was drained out good. This operation was performed in Northwestern hospital Saturday morning. The first operation was performed in Royot, France; the second in St. Paul. Wallace says it is a small souvenir from France.

Ray Holsapple of Brainerd spent Sunday with his aunt and other relatives here and returned to Camp Taylor today. He has re-enlisted for another year, First Division, Co. M. 26th Infantry, Louisville, Ky.

DOUBLE FUNERAL HELD IN BRAINERD

Ben Nesheim and Little Son Raymond Killed in Railway Crossing Accident, Laid to Rest

CAR STRUCK NEAR DETROIT

Family Formerly Lived at Pershing on Cuyuna Range, On Way to Their New Home

A double funeral, father and son, was held in Brainerd Tuesday afternoon from the D. E. Whitney chapel, Rev. E. R. Rorem, pastor of the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church officiating. The dead, being Ben Nesheim, and his son Raymond, aged 6, met their end in a railway crossing accident Sunday evening at 5 o'clock at a point a half mile this side of Detroit, Minn., when the car stalled and engine was killed. The flyer struck the automobile, smashed it to pieces and flung out the family. The father was thrown 200 feet and died four hours later. The boy died 15 minutes later. The wife, who was formerly Miss Hazel Rosenkranz and two other children Downey age 4, and Mildred age 1 were badly bruised. The road to the crossing gives no clear view of the track as it leads through woods and a cut in the hills.

The Nesheim family lived for a time at Pershing, a new mining town on the Cuyuna iron range. Later they rented a farm at Barnesville, N. D., and were on their way to their new home when the accident occurred.

Relatives going to the scene to claim the bodies were his father Neils Nesheim, brothers Theodore and Sam, Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Alberts, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosenkranz, and his father Wm. Rosenkranz, Mrs. A. W. Miller, of Deerwood.

Mr. Nesheim leaves four brothers, Jacob of Pittsburgh, Penn., and Theodore, Sam and Fremont of Brainerd; two sisters Mrs. Lillie Anderson of Enderlin, N. D., and Mrs. Minnie Gorton of Brainerd; and his father Neils Nesheim.

After services in Brainerd the bodies of father and son were buried in the cemetery in Long Lake.

GRAZING WESTERN SHEEP AND CATTLE

Bureau of Animal Industries Representative and St. Paul Supervisor of Markets Here

LOOK UP MONTANA SHEEP HERE

Stock and Cattle Examined in Three States Have Thrived Well on Forage Found

A very satisfactory and optimistic report on the results of the grazing of western sheep and cattle on northern Minnesota, Upper Michigan and Wisconsin lands will be made by E. M. Sheets, representing the Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, D. C., and Don J. Slater, local supervisor of markets, South St. Paul, who were in Brainerd today to look over conditions in this locality.

"Of the 165,000 head we have reports on," said Mr. Sheets, "we have not had one complaint but on the contrary, everything points to the plan being a big success." Of this number of stock, three-fifths are cattle and two-fifths sheep and the reports indicate that they have thrived rapidly on the forage afforded, the loss has been comparatively small and the owners of the stock themselves more than satisfied with the experiment.

Mr. Sheets predicts great things for this section as a live stock country and his department will make important recommendations along the line of development of the industry in the near future.

Messrs. Sheets and Slater visited the flocks of sheep being grazed in transit by Grundy and Morgan today and were impressed with the fine appearance of the animals. They left for Duluth this afternoon to continue their investigations. They were afforded all available information by Secretary Lincoln of the Chamber of Commerce and secured some photographs of flocks on the grazing grounds taken by H. R. Griebel, the local expert in out-door photography.

COMMERCIAL CLUB SECY. CONFERENCE

To be Held November 20-21 in St. Paul with Support of Many Prominent Civic Bodies

HEADQUARTERS ST. PAUL HOTEL

To Organize Secretaries of District into Association to Hold Annual Meetings

The dates for conference of commercial club secretaries of the Ninth Federal Reserve district, including in its territory North and South Dakota, Montana, Minnesota and the Upper peninsula of Michigan, have been definitely set for November 20-21, the conference to be held in St. Paul and with the cordial support of the St. Paul Association of Public Affairs and the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association.

The meetings will be held in St. Paul and headquarters established at the St. Paul hotel. The secretaries will be afforded an opportunity to visit the St. Paul and Minneapolis associations and inspect the equipment and learn of the manner of conducting the work of these two organizations. A program of addresses by men prominent in commercial club and community work is being arranged and the meeting promises to be one of the most important in the history of organizations of this nature in the northwest.

Invitations will be sent out to secretaries in the states mentioned through a director or member of an organization, composed of the following secretaries:

Fred T. Lincoln, Brainerd, chairman; George C. Mantor, Aberdeen, S. D.; J. A. Doelle, Marquette, Mich.; A. D. Richards, Missoula, Montana; W. W. Blain, Mitchell, S. Dak.; J. B. Kinsloe, La Crosse, Wis.; E. C. Hillweg, Minneapolis, Minn.; L. W. Meyers, Grand Forks, N. Dak.; E. F. Searing, Mankato, Minn.; E. L. Bennett, University of Minnesota. The purpose of this meeting is to organize the secretaries of the district into an association which will hold annual meetings for the consideration of the problems likely to come up in the communities of the northwest and to conduct what is expected to develop into a summer school covering a period of at least two days and later on a week, with the Twin Cities as the permanent headquarters, they being central in the territory and having exceptional advantages to offer for the purposes indicated by the organizers.

The idea was suggested at the Better Business convention in Minneapolis last spring and was presented at the conference of commercial club secretaries by F. T. Lincoln, secretary of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce and president of the Minnesota League of Community clubs, established three years ago with a laudible purpose but the functions of which were set aside for the war activities taking up the attention of every community during the past two years.

NAMED AS SPEAKER

At Annual Banquet of Thief River Falls Commercial Club, F. T. Lincoln had to Refuse

An invitation to be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Thief River Falls commercial club on October 18 has been extended Secretary Fred T. Lincoln of this city in a cordial letter from G. Howard Smith, the present secretary of that organization.

Mr. Lincoln was the first paid secretary of the Thief River Falls organization and was instrumental in making possible the payment of a furniture bill amounting to $1200 and making the club one of the most active in the northern section of the state.

He resigned there three years ago the present month and took up his work in Brainerd on October 16, 1916. He will be unable to accept this invitation from his former co-workers on account of the annual convention of the Mississippi River Scenic Highway, to be held in Memphis, Tenn., on October 15 and to which he has been named as a delegate.

A New Style.

Recently hurrying to go to town, I decided to change my shoes and stockings and just had put on one black stocking and one black shoe when the telephone bell rang. I talked longer than I should have done and seeing how late it was, grabbed my hat and rushed off. People started at me, but I never noticed until I got into the dentist's chair that I had on one black and one white shoe and one black and one white stocking, and I had to go home that way.—Chicago Tribune

REV. E. A. COOKE RETURNED TO CITY

Annual Conference of the Methodist Church in Minneapolis Reappoints Him to Brainerd

CONGREGATION WELL PLEASED

Mrs. Cooke Welcomed Back as Heartily as Her Husband, She is Power in Church School

The membership of the Methodist church, as well as the many friends of the church, were made quite happy when the annual conference which adjourned in Minneapolis yesterday reappointed Rev. E. A. Cooke as pastor for the local church for the coming year.

The church never has had a pastor who was so universally in favor as is Rev. Cooke. He is not spectacular in his work, but is on the job all the time and wins friends wherever he goes. There is not another pastor in the conference who has a better record for the splendid work done wherever he has served than has Rev. Cooke. His pulpit work is particularly strong. He has a positive message, yet he is unusually broadminded in his views, always recognizing the views of the other fellow and insisting only on those things which bring men and women to a higher plane of living and good citizenship.

Mrs. Cook is welcomed back equally as heartily, as she has demonstrated her interest in the well being of her age by the most excellent work she has done as superintendent of the primary department of the church school. She has developed this department to where it ranks with any in the state. She is also most active in the missionary work of the church.

Rev. and Mrs. Cooke are now at home beginning their activities of the new conference year.

ATTENTION, RETURNED SERVICE MEN

What the American Legion Stands for. The preamble of the Constitution reads:

For God and Country we associate ourselves together for the following purposes:—To uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and goodwill on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

What the American Legion Does Not Stand For:

It does not stand for any one class, creed, party or faction of our American citizenship. The charge has been made that it is an organization of officers. The fact that it has at this time over 1,000,000 members disproves this contention. The inability of men and officers to get together in one organization after serving together one common cause will reflect on the spirit of the men who served. We are no longer officers and men, we are fellow citizens and the American Legion knows no rank. It is strictly a civilian organization.

ARMY. It has been charged that the American Legion stands for the classes as against those who labor. This is not true. If it was true the writer of this statement who is a local man would have nothing to do with it. As a chaplain he was gripped by the enlisted man and not for the officers. He let them chase their own troubles. The American Legion has endorsed the stand of Samuel Gompers and the American Federation of Labor. At St. Paul in the state convention of the Legion it went on record as opposed to calling in the militia to preserve order during industrial disputes; taking the stand that the civil authorities ought to handle conditions arising at such times.

To go back to the preamble: The American Legion believes in America; in law and order; in 100 per cent Americanism; in Association of the men who served for their own comradeship and for the good they may do; in democracy as opposed to autocracy whether of one class or another.

It can not be called in to act at any time in a military manner. It is not a military organization. If men go in to settle disputes they go in of their own individual initiative and not as an organization.

It is opposed to granting the bonus to conscientious objectors, and in taking this stand it wins the approval

In the Race for Favor the Overblouse Yields Not an Inch of Its Advantage

Navy blue crepe Georgette when combined with the same material in biscuit tone makes quite a number of stylish modes. Creams, tans and several shades of rich, warm brown also enjoy popularity in the realm of Blouses. Overblouses are eagerly sought after, first because they are flatteringly becoming and secondly because of all types they offer undeniably the greatest number of possibilities. Once in a while—in this display, for instance—one finds models piquantly adorned with tiny pleatings. On other Blouses rich embroideries appear, but almost without exception the fabrics are Georgette. If you have just selected a stunning new tailor, or perhaps a ravishing new separate Skirt, this is your opportunity to choose for it a fitting complement.

Domestic Cat Distinct Species.
The Egyptian cat seemed to have a good claim to the honor of being the ancestor of the domestic cat, both on account of its tapering tail and size, in which it bears a great similarity to the domestic cat. But peculiarities which were discovered in its dentition were sufficient to remove its claim. So it seems best to consider the domestic cat a distinct species.

SPORTS

HAS PROVED WORTH OF HIS DAD'S JUDGMENT

Young Robert Kinsella, son of the Giants' famous scout, has proved the worth of his dad's judgment. Father Kinsella had watched his boy develop on the lots of Springfield until he considered him worth a professional trial, whereupon he sent him to Little Rock. There Bob has made good and the "old man" will keep his promise and give the boy a chance with the Giants in the spring training trip. The "sale" of Bob by Little Rock to New York has just been announced. The son of his father has been hitting .280 in the Southern league and is one of the fastest men on bases in the circuit. Pretty good for a 19-year-old boy.

ELMER OLIPHANT IS GREATEST ATHLETE

Returns as Coach at West Point, Where He Starred.

His Coaching Ability Proven at Camp Benning—Will Make Football, Basketball and Baseball Teams Greater Than Ever.

Elmer Q. Oliphant once more is an active lieutenant in Uncle Sam's army and is on the Cracker ineligible list. His time with the Crackers has expired, his furlough is up and he will return to Camp Benning. From there he goes to his greatest achievement, that of coach of athletics at West Point. Oliphant is tickled over his being able to once more get into harness at the Point.

Elmer Q. Oliphant.

His stay with the Crackers has been highly successful and the big bosses of the Crackers are highly pleased with his 20 days' show. He has played errorless ball and fielded in a most spectacular fashion.

Oliphant is the greatest college athlete ever developed in America and he starred exceptionally at West Point. His coaching ability has been proven at Camp Benning. His knowledge of football gained in eight years on the gridiron, his basket-ball experience equally as extensive and professional baseball experience will make West Point teams better than ever.

CLARKE LIKES TRAPSHOOTING

Former Manager of Pittsburgh Pirates Devoting Time to Shooting, Oil and Farming.

Fred Clarke, former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and regarded as one of the greatest field directors ever connected with the national pastime, is devoting his time now to trap shooting, farming and the oil business. The former Pirate leader lives at Winfield,

Fred Clarke.

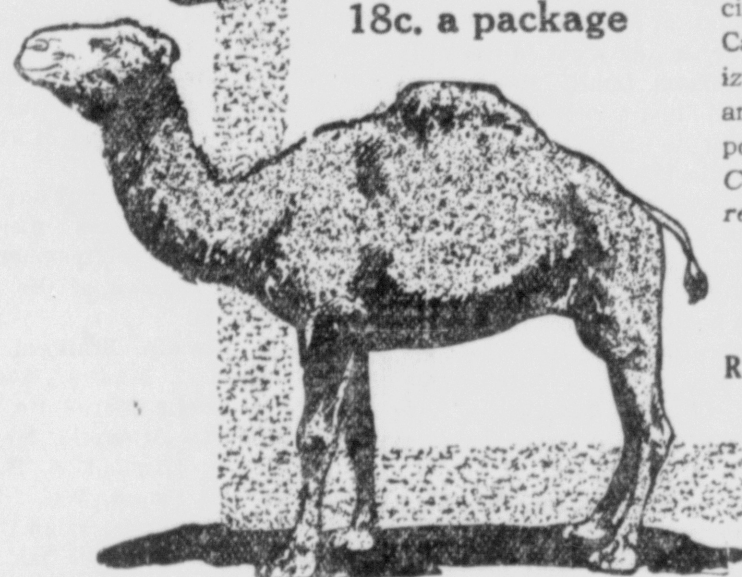

Kan., and is now making plans to entertain the 1920 Kansas state trap-shooting tournament there. Clarke doesn't boast of being as good a trap shooter as he was a baseball manager, but, at that, he does fairly well. He broke 246 birds in a recent state target shoot, using a 12-gauge single-barrel gun, which was presented to him several years ago by Pittsburgh fans. The gun is extensively engraved, the principal adornment being a figure of Clarke in baseball uniform, bat in hand.

Incompleteness.

How universal is the sense of incompleteness in human experience! Youth, maturity and even old age are ever reaching for the something else which they crave for the hour, which seems to be the essential need of the year while we occasionally meet natures who are bending every force of their working years to the end of attaining some great ambition, falling in which, life to them is but a fraction.—Robert Carroll.

You Can Depend On The Man Who Advertises

Nine times out of ten you will find that the man who advertises is the man who most willingly returns your money if you are not satisfied.

He has too much at stake to risk losing your trade or your confidence. You can depend on him.

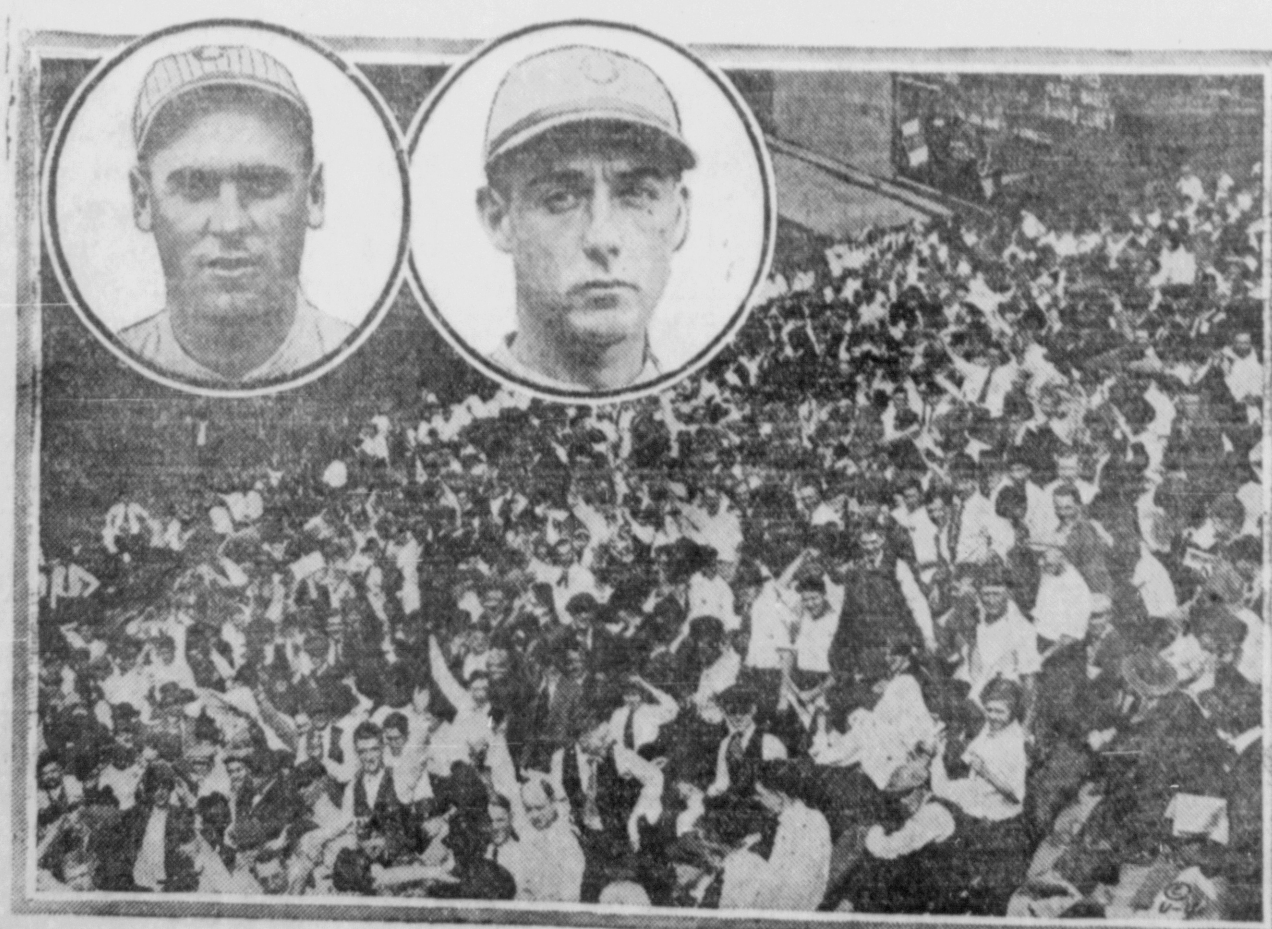

He is not in business for today or tomorrow only—but for next year and ten years from next year. He knows the value of good will.

You get better merchandise at a fairer price than he could ever hope to sell it if he did not have the larger volume of business that comes from legitimate advertising and goods that bear out the promise of the printed word.

Don't miss the advertisements. This very day they call your attention to values that tomorrow you will be sorry you overlooked.
